

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Summer school was opened Monday in Rutland and 100 pupils were enrolled.

Mrs. Warren Clark of North Poulney, 74 years old, dropped dead Monday afternoon on her lawn, as she was caring for her flower beds.

Three thousand people took advantage of the excursion to Burlington on Sunday, being the biggest crowd the Central Vermont has ever handled on excursions into that city.

After working for the American Fork and Hoe company for upwards of 14 years, J. H. Mandigo of Wallingford, the oldest employee of the company, resigned his position June 24.

Wesley T. Abell, a Georgia young man, who graduated from the University of Vermont this month, has a position as manager of the farm at the State Agricultural school at Randolph Center.

John Quincy Adams, aged 89, passed away at his home in Ferrisburg on Saturday following a two weeks' sickness, the first that ever compelled him to take to his bed. He was a cattle speculator on the Boston market.

Thomas Ryan of South Burlington had his right leg fractured last Saturday when a horse which he was driving, bolted at a passing automobile and kicked him. He held the horse until the arrival of an ambulance.

A meeting of the officers, executive committee and state board of the American Red Cross has been called by Dr. H. B. Holton of Brattleboro, to be held at the Van Ness house in Burlington on Wednesday, July 5, for the purpose of organizing the Vermont Red Cross work for military relief.

Mrs. Ruth M. Dowley, aged 77, died Tuesday morning in the Melrose hospital, West Brattleboro, of the infirmities of old age. One son, Harry T. Dowley, is a member of Co. I, which passed through Brattleboro on Tuesday afternoon on its way to the front.

Harvey W. Sanders, for 15 years chief engineer of the Brattleboro fire department, was removed from office Tuesday and the position given to Frank C. Streeter, an old member of the department. E. W. Gibson, one of the three commissioners to make the appointment, voted by proxy.

Jeremiah McDonough, an employee of the Vermont Snath company at Springfield, gave to a fellow workman to mail for him a letter containing $25 one day last week. The wind blew the letter from the carrier's hand into the Black River and it was only after some expert work by divers that the missive was returned to Mr. McDonough.

The ruins of the old hotel, which has stood at a point one-fifth of a mile below the summit of Killington mountain since the late '70s, were found burned by people who climbed the mountain on Sunday. The hotel has long been in disuse, the heavy snows of the Vermont winters having broken in the roof some years ago. It still offered a shelter in case of rain and the loss of material will be felt by the Appalachian club, which planned to use some of the lumber in the construction of huts along the Green Mountain trail.

GROTON

George H. Pillsbury, who has been in poor health for several years from diabetes, has not been as well for the past week and at a consultation of physicians on Sunday it was decided that an operation was imperative. He was taken the same afternoon to the hospital at Barre, where on Monday afternoon his right leg was amputated above the knee. His condition is reported favorable at this writing and his many friends are anxiously hoping that he may be restored to health. Mr. Pillsbury was accompanied to Barre by his wife and sons, C. J. Pillsbury, Wilson W. Ralph E. and G. Waldo, the latter being called here from Keene, N. H., on Saturday.

Mrs. Maggie Mead of Dorchester, Mass., arrived here Friday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Chrissie Whitehill, and brother, Henry Talsey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pillsbury of Barre were in town Saturday and Sunday to visit their father, G. H. Pillsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morrison and daughter, Helen, who have been passing some time with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Morrison, returned to their home at Manchester, N. H., Saturday.

The condition of Mrs. R. D. Hosmer, who has been in failing health for several months, took a sudden change for the worse Friday evening and she has since been critically ill. Miss Arlene McDonald, a professional nurse, is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Darling and daughters, Misses Ruth and Evalona, of Bradford, were visitors in town on Monday.

Mrs. Jessie Corwin returned to her home at Bradford Monday.

Children's day was observed Sunday at the Baptist church. Owing to the rain not as many were in attendance as would otherwise have been.

C. C. Lord of St. Johnsbury was with his family here over Sunday.

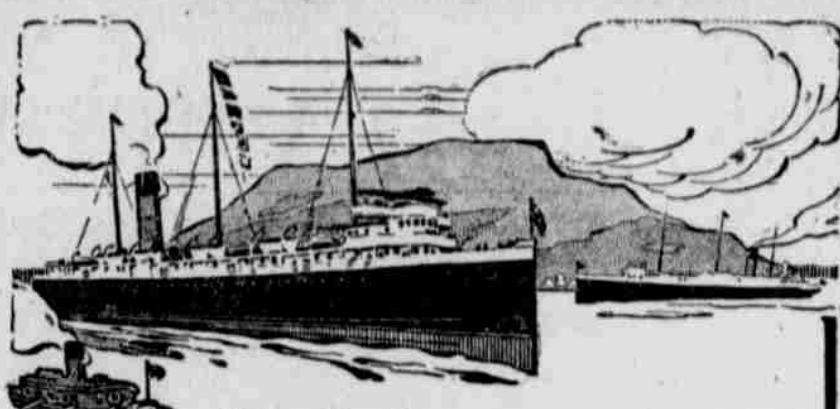

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chamberlin and daughter of Newbury were visitors at J. T. Darling's Saturday.

B. H. Ricker returned to his home at Billerica, Mass., after a three weeks' visit with relatives here.

E. F. Clark has sold his interest in the Groton Garage Co. to H. L. James, immediate possession being given.

Lewis Keenan and family went to Fort Ethan Allen on Sunday to visit Mr. Keenan's brother, Eber Caldwell, who was leaving with the Vermont troops.

Mrs. H. S. Brown, who has been passing several weeks with relatives here, returned to her home at Greenfield, Mass., yesterday.

BROOKFIELD.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre of East Brattleboro are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Henry H. Fullam, and family.

Miss Mary Upham of Worcester, Mass., and Miss Elizabeth Lamson of Northboro, Mass., came Saturday and opened the Upham cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams of Rumney, N. H., made her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Perham, a short visit last week.

Mrs. John McMin is in Barre for a while, helping care for a sick sister. The Schroeder family came from New Jersey last week and are occupying the Schroeder cottage.

Deputy Sheriff W. E. Bixby of Barre was in town recently on official business.

Mrs. Elliot Frink and son of Charlotte are visiting at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Frink.

The ladies of the home missionary society of the Second church will hold their meeting with Mrs. Helen Wilcox Wednesday afternoon, July 5.

Don't forget the Second church social and musicale this week Friday evening at the church parlors. Supper from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Miss Florence Phelps came from Williamstown last week to visit her aunt, Mrs. A. L. Follansbee.
